New University Foundation Board of Directors Appointed

Five new members have joined Truman State University's Foundation Board of Directors. President Barbara Dixon appointed Kara Geisert of Liberty, Mo., Guy Burton of Leawood, Kan., Larry Lunsford of Overland Park, Kan., Tom Ballard of Granger, Iowa, and Sarah Burkemper of Troy, Mo., to the Foundation Board.

Geisert earned a bachelor's degree in biology from Truman in 1993. Along with her husband Christopher, she was named a 2001 Young Alumni of the Year. Geisert co-owns a scrapbooking store in Liberty, Mo.

Burton earned two degrees from the University in the 1950s. A former high school teacher, coach and administrator, Burton now owns Sun and Swim Pools in Grandview, Mo. He has crafted and donated various bronze busts to the University over the years.

Lunsford is a 1981 and 1983 graduate of Truman. He is the founding president of the University's National Alumni Association Board and a past Foundation Board member. Lunsford serves as the Vice President of Finance for the retail division at Bernstein-Rein Advertising, Inc. in Kansas City, Mo.

Ballard graduated with a bachelor's in science degree from the University in 1969. Now retired, he served as Vice President for Cordant Technologies, a leading aerospace design, technology and manufacturing company.

Burkemper is a 1992 graduate of Truman and currently serves as the Public Administrator of Lincoln County, Mo. A member of Truman State University's Board of Governors, Burkemper is the 2005 chair.

The 22-member Foundation Board of Directors has the responsibility of overseeing fund raising, public relations and alumni relations for the University.

Asher and Heckert to Lead 2005 Faculty and Staff Campaign

All faculty and staff will receive information this week about supporting the Truman State University Foundation through the 2005 Faculty and Staff Campaign. The campaign is led by Nancy Asher, coordinator of testing and reporting, and Teresa Heckert, associate professor of psychology.

"This is an important year for us as we begin to lay the groundwork for a major campaign in the future," Heckert said. "Through our donations, we, the faculty and staff of Truman, can demonstrate that we believe in what we are doing here."

"Several new funds have been established that faculty and staff can contribute to, as well as many others," Asher said. "Visit the Web site to view a complete list and descriptions of the funds (<http://isupport.truman.edu>). A gift of any size is appreciated and will go toward making a big difference in the lives of students and the Truman community."

Each year private gifts from faculty and staff help fund a wide variety of academic scholarships, study abroad, faculty development and research, additional support for each of the academic divisions and cultural programs like the Kohlenberg Lyceum Series. This year, all gifts to the campaign will qualify faculty and staff for a drawing to win a parking space in the faculty and staff lot of their choice until Dec. 31, 2005.

For more information, go to <http://isupport.truman.edu> or call the Advancement Office at 785.4133. Read the Truman Today and check the Web site for campaign updates.

Physics Lecture Series

The physics department is presenting a series of five public lectures in celebration of the World Year of Physics 2005 and the 100th anniversary of Albert Einstein's "Miracle Year."

Each hour-long talk is appropriate for a general audience and will be followed by refreshments.

Lecture Dates

The following talks begin at 7:30 p.m. in VH 1000.

Feb. 1

"The Relativity of Space and Time"

Ken Hahn, lecturer

Feb. 8

"E=mc²...What's it All About?"

Peter Rolnick, lecturer

Feb. 15

"Light Quanta: A Worldview"

Michael Goggin, lecturer

For a complete lecture schedule, visit <http://physics.truman.edu> or call Matt Beaky at 785.4594.

Library Exhibit

In honor of the World Year of Physics 2005 and the 100th anniversary of Albert Einstein's "Miracle Year," Pickler Memorial Library staff, in conjunction with physics faculty, have prepared a special exhibit in the gallery on the first floor of the library.

On display are photos and other information related to Einstein's life, work and legacy. The exhibit will be available for the month of February.

Forensic Union Finishes Second at Air Force Tourney

The Truman Forensics team made another strong showing at the U.S. Air Force Academy Classic Jan. 21-23, in Colorado Springs, Colo. The 18 Truman competitors who attended the tournament took second overall in a field of 43 colleges and universities.

Truman out-performed a wide field of prestigious institutions, top forensics programs and regional and in-state rivals.

In parliamentary debate, the Union was the only team to place four duos in elimination rounds of the open division. Senior partners Tyson Helder, communication and political science double major from Sioux Falls, S.D., and Trevor Alexander, economics and English double major from Gladstone, Mo., along with Meghana Kunkala, junior biology major from Hattiesburg, Miss., and Dylan Rothemel, freshman chemistry major from Homewood, Ill., reached the quarterfinals. The senior pair of Matt Harms, economics major from Galesburg, Ill., and Ryan Walsh, philosophy and religion and communication double major from Cassville, Mo., competed in the "sweet sixteen" round in addition to Elizabeth Hobbs, junior biology major from Newton, Kan., and Keith Schnakenberg, sophomore political science and communication double major from Buffalo, Mo.

In the individual events competition, Hobbs seized first place in rhetorical criticism, continuing a streak of first place finishes by Truman students in this event. She was also a semifinalist in impromptu speaking. Kunkala took second in the rhetorical criticism as well.

The Truman team travels to Washburn University (Topeka, Kan.) Feb. 4-6 for their next competition.

Campus Groups Seek Connections

Various campus organizations and offices have come together to sponsor "Seeking Connections and Honoring Differences," a buffet dinner and discussion. All students, faculty and staff are invited to participate in the event from 5-7 p.m., Feb. 3, in the SUB Georgian Room.

Those who attend will discuss two theater scenes performed by members of the Truman community over dinner. These scenes will ask the audience to consider the challenges and excitement of living in a multicultural world and how well people relate to each other.

Reservations are required to join the dinner discussion and can be made by emailing rcp@truman.edu before 5 p.m. Feb. 1. Include a name and address in your response.

The event is brought to you by the Student Senate Diversity Committee, Multicultural Affairs Center, Vice President for Academic Affairs and Residential College Program.

For more information, contact Marty Eisenberg in Baldwin Hall 101 at 785.4409.

Olinger Named New Public Relations Intern

The Public Relations Office has announced communication major Sarah Olinger as its spring intern. Olinger, a graduate of Central High School in St. Joseph, Mo., is from St. Joseph. She is the daughter of Ronald and Peggy Olinger.

As the intern, she will assist in the writing, production and distribution of the University newsletter, Truman Today, as well as posting it online. She will also be responsible for editing the calendar on channel 36, writing press releases and performing various office duties.

At Truman, Olinger is the editor in chief of the student-produced travel magazine, Detours. She is a former Index and Detours reporter and an alumnae of Alpha Sigma Gamma service sorority.

Olinger's interest in obtaining experience and skills in various communication outlets has lead her to this position.

Notables

The Truman Volleyball Team earned a spot in the January issue of Volleyball Magazine for their strong record and successes in recent years. Head volleyball coach Qi Wang and seniors Jessica Sears, exercise science major from Colchester, Ill.; Rebecca Knepfkamp, communication major from St. Louis; Lauren Dickbernd, business administration major from St. Charles, Mo.; and Annie Nicolai, business administration major from St. Louis; are featured in the article.

Dereck Daschke, assistant professor of philosophy and religion, presented his paper, "Thou Shalt Not Covet': Israel, Repression, and its Discontents" at the Society of Biblical Literature annual meeting in November. In December, his chapter titled, "'Because of my Grief I have Spoken': The Psychology of Loss in Fourth Ezra" was published in volume 2 of Praeger's four-volume Psychology and the Bible series.

Pete Kelly, assistant professor of special education; Wendy Miner, assistant professor of education; and Dale Blesz, assistant professor of special education; will be presenting a paper titled "Action Research: Results from Two PDS Partnerships" at the National Association of Teacher Educators' conference in Chicago in February. Kelly and Blesz also will be presenting a paper titled "A Highly Contextualized Professional Development School in Education: Focus on On-Site Preparation" at the conference.

Officer Tami O'Haver was sworn in as the newest member of the Truman State University Department of Public Safety police force Dec. 20. O'Haver joined the Department in September 2004.

Steven D. Reschly, associate professor of history, served as a Fulbright Senior Scholar with the Institute for British and American Studies at the Martin Luther University of Halle-Wittenberg in Germany from 2003-2004. In November 2004, Reschly was appointed to the Fulbright Review Committee for Faculty Applications to Austria and Germany. This is a three-year appointment. While in Germany, Reschly spoke at the Ferdinand-Sauerbruch-Gymnasium in Großröhrsdorf in December 2003. He presented his research at the University of Rostock and at the Atlantische Akademie Rheinland-Pfalz, in Kaiserslautern in May 2004. In addition to serving as the Chair of the Publicity Committee and Member of the Executive Committee of the Women's and Gender Historians of the Midwest (WGHOM), Reschly is a member of the Editorial Council for Pennsylvania Mennonite Heritage. He is a member of the H-Net International Committee, as well as Chair of the Planning Committee, Chair of Editorial Board and faculty sponsor of the HISTMAJOR Listserv Discussion Group for Undergraduate History Majors, part of H-NET. Reschly continues research for his third book, a co-authored study of consumer culture in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, in the New Deal Era.

Senior Wins National Dow Jones Internship

The Dow Jones Newspaper Fund awarded senior Tony Albrecht an internship for summer 2005.

The fund, founded in 1958 by editors of The Wall Street Journal to improve the quality of journalism education and the pool of applicants for jobs in the newspaper business, conducts a rigorous nationwide search for 120 interns. The interns then work in publications across the United States.

Albrecht will work at the Oneonta Daily Star in Oneonta, N.Y., after training at Penn State. He is an English major with a minor in philosophy and religion from Chesterfield, Mo. Albrecht served as the head copy editor on the Index for fall 2004 semester.

Siewert and Nelson to Discuss Book During Extra Weekly Lunch Series Sessions

Gregg Siewert, professor of French, and Teak Nelson, lecturer in nursing, will be leading a reading circle over the book "Teaching In Eden" by John Janovy during the month of February.

They will be discussing the book at an Extra Edition of the Weekly Lunch Series from 12:30-1:30 p.m., every Thursday in February, in the SUB Spanish Room.
