THE LARAMIE PROJECT
By Moisés Kaufman and the Members of the Tectonic Theater Project

February 17–21     8:00pm     $2.00
Ophelia Parrish Black Box Theatre

Presented by Truman State University’s Department of Theatre and Division of Fine Arts, this play depicts the ways in which the community of Laramie, Wyoming was impacted by the events surrounding Matthew Shepard's murder in 1998. The play emphasizes the importance of embracing all kinds of difference, representing Laramie and its people with grace and compassion. For additional information, contact Becky Becker at 660-785-4519.

Seating is limited, so please make your reservations by filling out the form below and returning it to the Theatre Box Office, or by calling to reserve your seats at 785-4515. Tickets are $2.00 per person and should be picked up at the Theatre Box Office in Ophelia Parrish by 7:45pm on the evening of the performance. Latecomers will not be seated until intermission.

Please indicate the number of tickets for your 1st and 2nd performance choices:

1st Choice
Tues. _____ Wed. _____ Thurs. _____ Friday _____ Sat. _____
2nd Choice
Tues. _____ Wed. _____ Thurs. _____ Friday _____ Sat. _____
Name ______________________________              Extension _________________
Division _____________________________               e-mail ____________________