Board of Governors Approve 2003 Operating Budget

At the June Board of Governors meeting and planning retreat, the Board approved the 2003 operating budget which includes faculty and staff salaries being maintained at the 2002 operating level, due to the severe budget shortfall. The Board also gave authorization to the President to institute a special student surcharge, up to $100, for the fall semester. A decision on the surcharge will be made soon so all students can be notified. President Jack Magruder also notified the Board of his intent to retire next year on June 30, 2003. Board member Randa Rawlins was appointed to serve as the chair of the search committee, with the goal of having the process under way before school starts this fall.

Heartland Chautauqua to Portray Five Historic Personalities July 1-6

The Heartland Chautauqua will be at Kirksville's NEMO Fairgrounds July 1-6. It is an event with a deep history in the heartland. From the mid-nineteenth century until the 1930s, the Chautauqua offered a place for Missouri residents to engage in intellectual activity.

The traveling tent shows featured famous politicians and orators, and brought entertainment and education to many small Midwestern towns. Famous personalities such as Teddy Roosevelt and William Jennings Bryan contributed to oratory, musical and dramatic performances that kept audiences returning each summer. The Chautauqua ended its run in the 1930s when it began to lose educational value and could no longer compete with movies and radio.

A revival of its legacy began in the late 1970s as the humanities' councils in the Midwest recognized the value of the Chautauqua. The Missouri Humanities Council launched Missouri Chautauqua in 1993, and when the citizens of Missouri responded enthusiastically, the Council decided to establish the Chautauqua once again as a permanent traveling program. In 1996 the Illinois Humanities Council joined Missouri's efforts to create the Heartland Chautauqua.

Five scholars will appear in full costume each evening and present historical characterizations. Each program is free to the public and will begin at 7 p.m with 45 minutes of local entertainment.

Two personalities to be portrayed that were discussed in the previous Truman Today include Aimee Semple McPherson on July 2 and Willa Cather on July 3.

Harry Reser will be portrayed at Heartland Chautauqua on July 4. Reser was a famous musician, composer, band leader, radio producer and banjo virtuoso of the 1920s. His musical talent was discovered at an early age and by the time he finished high school he could play the guitar and piano. Reser also received classical training on the violin and cello. He mastered the banjo and began playing for amusement parks, ballrooms and dance academies. He formed a band of nine musicians who played as a part of the Clicquot Club radio program.

Another personality to be portrayed will be H.L. Mencken on July 5. Mencken is most remembered for his essays. He began writing as a reporter at the Baltimore Herald. He had his own column by the time he was 30. Shortly after that he and George Nathan founded and edited American Mercury. Mencken gradually added literary criticism, drama criticism, history, biography and fiction to his growing repertoire of essays and columns.

John Dos Passos will be portrayed on July 6. Dos Passos served as an ambulance driver during the Great War where his perceptions of a society gone mad and of the negative effects of capitalism furnished the material for his first two published novels. More novels, all of which offered a critique of urban life, politics, reform and industry soon followed. He wrote his highly-acclaimed trilogy "U.S.A." after the controversial trial and execution of two Italian immigrants, Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

Musical entertainment and other festivities will accompany the skits underneath the giant tent.
