Kohlenberg Lyceum Series Begins with Gus Giordano Jazz Dance Chicago

The 2002-2003 Kohlenberg Lyceum Series will continue to broaden the cultural experiences of students, faculty, staff and the community.

This year's line-up features a unique blend of artistry in music and dance. The season will kick off with the performance of Gus Giordano Jazz Dance Chicago at 7:30 p.m., Sept. 24, in Baldwin Auditorium.

Gus Giordano Jazz Dance Company began in 1962 as Dance Incorporated Chicago. It became the first jazz dance company to tour the Soviet Union in 1974.

The focus on jazz dance led to a new name, Gus Giordano Jazz Dance Chicago and its current mission of developing and preserving the indigenous American art of jazz dance. The company has brought excitement to audiences around the world and has an active role in outreach and educational programs, including school performances in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Other performances this fall include the upbeat rhythmic sounds of the St. Louis Brass Quintet Oct. 15 and the lively interpretations, spirited improvisations and Celtic style of Ensemble Galilei Dec. 9.

Free tickets to Gus Giordano Jazz Dance Chicago will be available to students, faculty and staff beginning Sept. 17 with a University ID at the Student Activities Board office and the Center for Student Involvement, lower level of the SUB. Kraft Foods is a gold level sponsor for this event.

Internship at Truman Library Offers Unique Experience for Students

Truman State University is pleased to announce the fourth annual paid internship for a Truman State University student at the Harry S. Truman Presidential Museum and Library, located in Independence, Mo. The internship has been made possible by a generous endowment from the family of Fred and Ethel Schwengel.

The internship is for the spring 2003 semester, and is open to all Truman juniors and seniors who meet University requirements for an internship. Students can earn up to 15 hours of credit for this full-time internship. After being selected by a University committee and the Truman library staff, the intern may work in a variety of areas of the Library including archives, public relations, marketing, educational programming, museum development or visitor services. Assignment will be based on intern's abilities and interests along with the Library's needs. The internship offers a $2,000 stipend.

Guidelines for the internship require that selected interns must immerse themselves in the study of President Truman. At the conclusion of the internship, the intern will prepare a paper on his or her experiences at the Museum and Library and on a specific study of the Truman presidency. The internship schedule will allow time for the intern to research the project.

Potential interns must have strong communication skills, both written and verbal, strong organizational skills, the ability to work independently on multiple tasks, basic computer skills, dependability and self-motivation.

Applications must be received by Oct. 7. For more information and applications, please contact Jeff Gall, associate professor of history and social science, at 785.4867 or jjgall@truman.edu.

McNair Program Receives Recognition

At the recent national TRIO conference organized by the U.S. Department of Education, Truman McNair Program Director Emmanuel Nnadozie had a very nice surprise. In front of the large gathering, Robert Belle, former director of the Office of Federal TRIO Programs, held up the Truman McNair Program publication, The McNair Scholarly Review of Truman State University, and told the audience that Truman's publication should be emulated by all McNair Programs.

The McNair Program is one of the six TRIO programs funded by the Federal Department of Education to support students from disadvantaged backgrounds who demonstrate academic potential. The purpose of the McNair Program is to increase the number of first-generation and low-income students and underrepresented minority groups who obtain doctoral degrees. This is accomplished by preparing students for doctoral studies through involvement in research, mentoring, and other activities; assisting students in graduating from college and enrolling in graduate school; and supporting students in the completion of doctoral studies.

Truman's McNair Program meets the social, academic and informational needs associated with gaining entry into and completing doctoral studies.

Participants in the program are matched with faculty mentors from Truman and Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine. These mentors assist students in achieving their individual post-baccalaureate educational goals.

Students participate in pre-research internships during their sophomore year and summer research internships during their junior year. During their senior year, the focus is on graduate school placement.

Beta Alpha Psi Chapter Wins National Awards

The University's Kappa Nu chapter of Beta Alpha Psi was recognized nationally for its work in 2001-2002.

Under the leadership of the chapter president Kristen Scheidt, senior accounting major from California, Mo., the chapter achieved a Superior Chapter Award at the national meeting held in San Antonio, Texas in August 2002. Having received its national charter in October 2001, this is the second consecutive year that the chapter has been honored. The award is based on members' participation in professional development and community service activities of the local chapter and participation in the national and regional activities of the national fraternity. The award is the highest level of regional activities of the national fraternity and it includes a monetary award funded by KPMG LLP.

The chapter also competed for Best Practices Award. During the year, the chapter worked with Jeffrey Romine, professor of accounting, to develop a program to promote accounting careers and Truman

State University to high school students. Members visited high school classes, wrote letters to prospective Truman students, and staffed informational tables at Truman-sponsored high school activities.

After having won first place for the program's efforts and accomplishments at the Missouri Valley Regional meeting in April 2002, chapter members Kim Kenny, senior accounting major from St. Charles, Mo.; Kara Siebert, senior accounting major from Fenton, Mo.; and Amy Taucher, senior accounting major from Wildwood, Mo.; presented the program in the national competition against participants from all regions. Truman's program was recognized as one of the top three in the nation winning a monetary award funded by Deloitte & Touche LLP.

Beta Alpha Psi is a national professional financial information fraternity. Membership is limited to undergraduate and graduate students of accounting, finance and information systems who have met high academic standards.

United Way Kicks Off Campus Drive

The 2003 United Way Campaign at Truman State University will kick off with a brief workshop for group leader volunteers at 7:30 a.m., Sept. 19, in the Student Union Building Georgian Room.

The campaign will run through October during which time these committed volunteers will give all faculty, staff and students the opportunity to become informed and involved by contributing to the United Way effort. The 2003 goal for Truman is $48,000.

The strategic plan for the United Way of Adair County is to develop needed resources for service agencies in the community through a unified campaign. This effort provides monies without the high cost of raising funds for each individual agency. Contributors can be assured that most of every dollar goes right back into our community to support agencies who literally help thousands of people in Adair and surrounding counties.

The 15 agencies who depend on United Way for their yearly budgets are: Adair County Family YMCA, Adair County 4-H Council, American Red Cross, Boy Scouts-Great River Council, Central Missouri Food Bank, Christian Community Clinic, Community Opportunities/

Sheltered Workshop, Girl Scouts of the Becky Thatcher Area, Hospice 2000, Kirksville Day Care Center, NMCS/Civil Air Patrol, Inc., Nutrition Program/NEMO Senior Citizens Services, Inc., RSVP/Senior Adult Services, Inc., Salvation Army, Victim Support Services, Inc. In addition, $5,500 in grants was distributed for additional service organization projects in 2002.

This year's campus drive will be led by co-chairs, Donna J. Bailey and Doug Daubert, and student co-chairs, Rebecca Rose and Phillip Miner, with the theme "Choose to Care."

Koch Receives $1,000 Scholarship

President Jack Magruder applauds as Corey Koch receives a check for a $1,000 scholarship from Ami Clinkenbeard, scientific recruiter from Kelly Scientific Resources. Koch was invited to participate in a national essay contest following the completion of a summer internship with Fuch's Century Lubricants in Kansas City, Kan., where he did sample processing and analysis for their quality control lab. His essay, "Full Speed Ahead," addressed the impact of diverging world factors on scientific research and discoveries of the future. Five scholarships were awarded nationally and Koch received the honorable mention scholarship for $1,000.

Are you interested in seeking an internship?

Know of a great internship opportunity in your office or elsewhere that you would like to publicize?

If so, the University Career Center wants to help!

The University Career Center now posts all internship positions received and asks all employers to post their internship positions on eRecruiting, an online resume, employer, job and internship database. This gives students the ability to search for internships at their convenience from any computer with Internet access. Likewise, any internship provider can post and change positions.

eRecruiting is the only online database through which internships are posted; however, the Career Center also maintains a file of employer internship brochures and a number of current internship directories including, the "National Directory of Internships in the Arts," "The Big Green Internship Book" (environmental) and the "Sports Internship Book."

If you wish to access eRecruiting, call the Career Center at 785.4353 to set up a password-protected account.
