Truman Enrollment Climbs for 2010-2011

An increase in every enrollment category has pushed total enrollment at Truman to more than 6,000.

Last month, Truman announced its new student enrollment was the highest the University has seen in five years.

Final enrollment figures indicate the number of first-time freshmen increased by more than 5 percent and the number of full-time students is up by more than 3 percent.

Truman has 254 more students enrolled for the current academic year and the University's total enrollment is 6,035.

"To increase every aspect of our enrollment speaks volumes about the quality and affordability of a Truman education," University President Troy D. Paino said. "Students and their parents are paying closer attention to every detail of their college decision, and Truman has such a great academic reputation, and relatively low cost, that it cannot be overlooked."

Truman students come from 35 states and 43 countries. More than 75 percent are Missouri residents, with students from Illinois, Iowa and Kansas comprising the largest number of out-of-state students.

Phi Kappa Phi Receives Chapter Distinction

The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi recently recognized the Truman chapter as a Chapter of Merit.

The award, presented at the organization's national biennial convention last month in Kansas City, Mo., is given to chapters that excel in recognizing and promoting academic excellence in all fields of higher education and engaging the community of scholars in service to others.

"Those chapters that have earned Chapter of Merit status are led by committed officers who give generously of their time and talent to honor outstanding students," said Perry A. Snyder, the Society's executive director. He added, "Officers of award-winning chapters live out their personal commitment to honor and excellence through Phi Kappa Phi."

By receiving the Chapter of Merit distinction, Truman's chapter is being recognized as a thriving organization that meets frequently, holds annual initiations and applies regularly for Phi Kappa Phi's select scholarships, grants and fellowships.

The Chapter of Merit Award includes a citation from the Society president, a commendation letter sent to chapter officers and campus administration, special recognition on the Society website, publications and at Phi Kappa Phi's National Convention, a specially designed logo for use in chapter communications and a $100 award.

Founded in 1897 and headquartered in Baton Rouge, La., Phi Kappa Phi is the nation's oldest, largest and most selective all-discipline honor society. Phi Kappa Phi inducts annually approximately 30,000 students, faculty, professional staff and alumni.

Membership is by invitation only to the top 10 percent of seniors and graduate students and 7.5 percent of juniors. Faculty, professional staff and alumni who have achieved scholarly distinction also qualify.

UNITED WAY UPDATE

Within the first two weeks of the United Way campaign, the Truman community contributed more than $21,000. United Way is local—this one gift supports more than 25 local programs sponsored by 14 partner agencies. These programs help individuals pursue the goals of education, income and health.

Pledge forms may be sent to "United Way, University Counseling Services." Contact Joe Hamilton (785.4014), Tony Vazzana (785.4284) or John Dungan at the United Way office (665.1924) with any questions or to get a pledge form.

Debaters Featured in Educational Video

Four Truman students are featured in an educational video that intends to develop debate programs in Afghanistan.

The video will be used in a pilot program featuring three Kabul universities and for additional training of faculty and students at other universities.

This debate project is sponsored by the International Foundation for Electoral Systems (IFES), an international nongovernmental organization with headquarters in Washington, D.C.

The Truman students debated on the topic "Holding a job while studying does more harm than good to university students," against four students from Washburn University using British Parliamentary Debate rules. At the conclusion of the debate, Washburn sponsor James Schnoebelen, Truman sponsor Kevin Minch and Kansas Court of Appeals Judge G. Joseph Pierron critiqued the students to demonstrate the judging process at a tournament.

Participating students included: senior political science major Sarah Backhaus; sophomore communication major Jessica Petrie; freshman political science and philosophy and religion double major Haley Sawyers; and junior political science major Andrew Schupick.

Peter Noppenau, coordinator of the program for IFES in Kabul, remarked, "An educational video made by American university students respecting the Afghan culture and engaging in Afghan students' problems will greatly encourage already well motivated Afghan university students who, on behalf of their country, are seeking recognition of their culture and capabilities. The video will further bridge the understanding between American and Afghan youth in a time where most information between the two countries sadly are negative because of the ongoing war."

Truman is a past winner of the National Parliamentary Debate

Association championship and Washburn was the most recent winner of the National Parliamentary Debate Association National Team Sweepstakes in Lubbock, Texas.

The Truman Forensic Union (which houses the debate program) is directed by Kristi Scholten, assistant professor of communication and assisted by professor Russell Luce, instructor of communication.

Jessica Petrie, Haley Sawyers and Sarah Backhaus display the traditional Afghan dress worn during their educational video.

REGISTRAR SEARCH

NOTABLES

Michael Bump, associate professor of music, has been invited to present a showcase lecture/performance at the 49th Annual Percussive Arts Society International Convention, Nov. 11-14 at the Indianapolis Convention Center, Indianapolis, Ind. Bump was asked by the Percussive Arts Society Executive Committee to present on timpani performance and solo literature for the convention. Bump's presentation will include guest performances with Paul Yancich, principal timpanist with the Cleveland Orchestra, and Neil Grover, percussionist with the Boston Symphony. The Percussive Arts Society is the field's premiere professional society, with more than 10,000 international members. The Society's Annual four-day convention is an international event, with more than 6,000 members in attendance, featuring the art's most influential performing artists, educators and composers.

Warren Gooch, professor of music, will have original musical compositions performed at two new music conferences in October. "Monodies" for cello and piano will be performed by Brian Kubin, assistant professor of music, and Gooch Oct. 1 at the 2010 Region V conference of the Society of Composers. "Prayer of David" for tuba will be performed Oct. 16 at the 2010 National Christian Fellowship of Art Music Composers conference at Indiana Wesleyan University.

Zhong (John) Ma, associate professor of biology, had his article "Plant Vacuoles and the Regulation of Stomatal Opening" published by Nature Publishing Group, the world's leading publisher of science, on "Scitable.com" by Nature Education. Scitable brings together a library of scientific overviews with a worldwide community of scientists, researchers, teachers and students. It serves as a free online science library with evidence-based educational resources for life sciences, providing personal learning and teaching tools for both students and teachers.

Wynne Wilbur, associate professor of art, has been invited to participate in a show of ceramic work entitled "For the Table" at Arts Alive Gallery in Breckinridge, Col.

NSCS Chapter Achieves Gold STAR Status

Truman's chapter of The National Society of Collegiate Scholars (NSCS) was awarded gold STAR status at the NSCS Leadership Summit.

The chapter's officers accepted the award on behalf of the chapter adviser and members. The chapter will also receive a $250 Chapter Scholarship and letter to President Paino to commemorate this achievement.

To attain gold status, chapters are required to hold an induction ceremony for new members, create a student mentoring program, sponsor campus-wide events to support NSCS' integrity initiative, create an on-campus membership recruitment campaign and engage a campus office in a chapter event.

NSCS chapters can attain one of four STAR status levels: bronze, silver, gold and platinum. Each level is determined by the quantity and quality of events the chapter held during the previous year.

For Thomas Locke, the NSCS national staff representative who works with Truman's chapter officers, the award comes as no surprise.

"The members of Truman State University's chapter are amazing," Locke said. "They have gone above and beyond by creating innovative programs and expanding and improving existing programs and have provided an exceptional experience for their members. They have truly embraced the ideals of NSCS."

The National Society of Collegiate Scholars is a member of the Association of College Honor Societies and is the nation's only interdisciplinary honors organization to invite first- and second-year college students. Membership is by invitation only, based on grade point average and class standing. NSCS offers members exclusive access to scholarships, career resources, leadership and networking opportunities.

FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIPS

Applications will be available Oct. 1 for Foundation scholarships that have not yet been awarded for 2010-2011. Informational Meeting Scheduled for McNair Program

The McNair Program is one of eight TRIO programs funded by the U.S. Department of Education to provide students from disadvantaged backgrounds with effective preparation for doctoral studies. Specifically, it supports first-generation and low-income college students and students from groups that have been historically underrepresented in graduate education. Truman students interested in learning more about eligibility for, application to and benefits of the McNair Program are invited to attend one of the following meetings:

3 p.m. • Oct. 5 • Student Union Building Conference Room 3000
2:30 p.m. • Oct. 6 • Violette Hall 1400

Students are also invited to visit <http://mcnair.truman.edu> or contact Program Coordinator Sarah Hass for additional information. The deadline to submit McNair applications is Nov. 10.

VOTER REGISTRATION INFORMATION

The Office of Citizenship and Community Standards has voter registration information available online at <http://conduct.truman.edu>. Students can click on the "Voter Registration" link to print a form.

Students will also have the option of picking up a form at a voter registration table in the Student Union Building from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Oct. 4.

Completed forms can be mailed to the appropriate county (Adair County for those who wish to register in Kirksville), with the appropriate addresses available on the Missouri Secretary of State's website at <http://www.sos.mo.gov/elections/countyclerks.asp>.

Registration forms need to be postmarked by Oct. 6 in order to be eligible to vote in the Nov. 2 elections.

For more information about the voter registration process, contact the Elections Office for the State of Missouri at 573.751.2301 or elections@sos.mo.gov.
